

BY THE MAYOR OF THE CITY OF MCINTYRE GEORGIA

A PROCLAMATION

Whereas, a commitment to excellence in manufacturing and service are essential to our nation's long term economic welfare, and

Whereas, over the years, American craftsmen have shown great pride and interest in developing quality goods and services; and

Whereas, individual workers, business managers, labor leaders, and government officials must all work to promote a standard of excellence in the public and private sectors; and

Whereas, from the smallest to the largest manufacturing and service organizations, quality is a major concern of all who believe in the long-term existence of their operations; and

Whereas, the interests of these men and women are represented by the American Society for Quality Control, an international society with over 60,000 members worldwide, engaged in a national campaign to make all Americans aware that "Quality First" is the key to productivity and profitability in our economy; and

Whereas, Engelhard Corporation, a major corporate citizen in our community, has made a significant commitment to quality in its Mid-Georgia Operations and worldwide and has shown a strong business commitment to the State of Georgia, Wilkinson County and the City of McIntyre; and

Whereas, the Middle Georgia Section of the American Society for Quality Control will sponsor activities in support of this national awareness campaign; and

NOW, THEREFORE, I, John I. Crutchfield, Mayor of the City of McIntyre, Georgia hereby proclaim October 1991 as National Quality Month and commend the American Society for Quality Control and the Middle Georgia Section for their contributions to our community.

MAYOR

ATTEST:

NOW, THEREFORE, I, John I. Crutchfield, Mayor of the City of McIntyre, Georgia hereby proclaim October 1991 as National Quality Month and commend the American Society for Quality Control and the Middle Georgia Section for their contributions to our community.

John I. Crutchfield
MAYOR

ATTEST:

Carol A. Rayburn